Rainbow Bubbles

It's art in the garden, a complete range of glass bubbles that sit in ponds, on rockeries, are placed between plants or hang from branches. Singly or in groups they are magical, imitating soap bubbles that never burst. Placed anywhere in the garden they catch the light and draw the eye closer.

Exterior and interior landscaping needs an element of surprise, something that says it's special, Rainbow Bubbles have that quality. Inspiring innovative thoughts, day dreams, moments in time, they are just the thing to create quiet meditative contemplation.

Displaying the Rainbow Bubbles

The most effective way to display the bubbles is by grouping them together. Uneven numbers, three's, fives etc.

Placing in a planted border near to the front makes a simple and eye catching accent to the display. Ensure that there is good light to enable the greatest amount of reflection from the glass. Alternatively, the glass bubbles can be displayed on their own in a raised bed. A minimalist theme suits the product well, using slate pieces, rocks and rockery plants to contrast with the glass. The bubbles have also been used very effectively around a pond or water feature, nestled into plants and flowers nearby.

Rainbow Bubble hanging tea lights and glass stake tea lights look beautiful when lit up at night throughout the year. We supply shepherd staff hooks and S shaped hooks for the hanging tea lights. Always insure that the soil is moist before inserting the glass stake tea lights into the ground or tub. The floating Rainbow Bubbles can be placed in ponds and water features and come in 4 sizes.

All Rainbow Bubble glass is 100% frost proof and hand blown so that they can remain outside throughout the year.

Displaying the Wind Dancers

The key is presentation and the number one way to keep up sales is to keep the wind sculptures turning. The stand should be positioned along the corridor, near a power point on one of the pillars, this will ensure maximum attention to the product. Just watching them turn gently seems to mesmerize the customers and they can't help but want one.

When setting up the stand make sure the larger ones are in the middle as they are the most eye catching, the smaller shapes at the top and a mixture of the medium and larger ones at the bottom. Ensure the strings are untied from the product and the bags removed from the crystals. The crystals are of the very highest quality, 30% lead and are Austrian. Also make sure that all Wind Dancers can turn freely without bumping into each other. The top rung can take two on each pole, the middle rung should only have one on each. The bottom rung can perhaps fit a mini and a medium on each pole but try not to overcrowd it. Try to achieve a balance.

Main points to remember:

- ☐ Keep the sculptures turning
(ensure the speed is on high)
- ☐ Do not overcrowd, allow them to turn freely.
- ☐ Make sure that the crystals are out of their bags and ties undone
- ☐ All products should have sales tags attached
- ☐ Place each product in direct line with airflow from the fan
